Thank you for your interest in the graduate programs at Nyack College. Below is helpful information for you as an international student.

As an international student applying to Nyack College, there are many tasks that need to be accomplished. The list below is designed to help you keep track of everything that will need to be taken care of before you are able to attend. As you accomplish each task, check the box to the left. If additional information is needed, the Director of Admissions will contact you.

Please be aware that Nyack College does not have scholarships designated for International Students. Each student, therefore, is responsible for his or her own expenses. This must be done within the first 15 days following the first day of classes of every semester.

- If for any reason you are unable to maintain a full 12 credit load each semester (or as specified by your program, but not less than 12 credits), you must speak with the DSO within the first 15 days following the first day of classes. You cannot drop below full-time without first obtaining DSO permission.

- Before you or your dependents leave the United States, have your documents reviewed by a DSO.

- Contact the DSO immediately if your travel documents are lost or stolen.

- Make sure your passport is always valid. It must be valid for at least six months into the future anytime you wish to re-enter the U.S.

How Do I Become an Academic Student in the United States?

Who is allowed to study in the United States?
A nonimmigrant is someone admitted to the U.S. temporarily for a specific purpose. People who are coming to the United States to pursue full-time academic or vocational studies are usually admitted in one of three categories: F, J, and M. Nyack College’s Seminary and Graduate Schools only hosts F-1 students. The F-1 category includes academic students in colleges, universities, seminaries, and other academic institutions.

What does the law say?
The specific eligibility requirements and procedures for applying for academic student status are included in the Code of Federal Regulations, available at http://www.ice.gov/sevis/regs/8cfr214_2f.htm [see 8CFR § 214.2(f)].

How do I apply if I am outside of the United States?
• You must first apply to study at a USCIS-approved school in the United States. If you are accepted by the school and you can prove to them that you have sufficient financial support for study, the school will issue you a USCIS (formerly INS) Form I-20 (Certificate of Eligibility for Nonimmigrant [F-1] Student Status).
• If you require a visa, then you should take the USCIS Form I-20 to the nearest U.S. consulate to obtain a student visa. Only bring the Form I-20 from the school you plan on attending for visa processing at the U.S. consulate. They will have all necessary information you will need for your visa application process. You must prove to the consulate that you have the financial resources required for your education and stay in the United States. You must also prove to them that you do not intend to come to the U.S. permanently, and you will be required to demonstrate your intention to return to your home country following your studies.
• Obtaining an F-1 visa does not guarantee your admission into the United States. An immigration inspector will make the final decision when you arrive in the U.S. He or she will base this decision on a variety of information available to him or her. Be sure you have all necessary documents in order when you meet with the immigration inspector at the U.S. border.
• When entering the U.S., you must carry a passport valid at least six months into the future, your F-1 entry visa, your I-20, copies of your admission letter and financial documents, and evidence that you have paid the SEVIS I-901 fee if you are a new student.
• Upon arrival, you should receive a Form I-94 (Arrival-Departure Record) that will include your admission number to the United States. This I-94 is the final approval of your F-1 status. An immigration inspector will then write your admission number on your I-20.
• You are expected to carefully guard the I-20 papers. This document is your proof that you are allowed to study in the United States as an F-1 student. You should see your designated school official (DSO) if you need a replacement copy of your I-20. You should also keep safe your Form I-94, because it proves that you legally entered the United States. If you need a replacement copy of your Form I-94, you must apply for one to USCIS.

Can I bring my spouse and children with me to the United States?
Your spouse and children may come with you to the United States in F-2 status. They should go with you to the U.S. embassy or consulate when you apply for your student (F-1) visa. They should be prepared to prove their relationship to you. If your spouse or children are going to join you at a later date, they should provide the U.S. embassy staff with a copy of your USCIS Form I-20 and proof of their relationship to you. The F-2 status of your family will be dependent upon your status as the F-1 academic student. This means that if you change your status, your family must change their status. If you lose your status, your family will also lose their status.

How can I change my nonimmigrant status to become a student if I am already in the United States?
You first must apply to study at a USCIS-approved school in the United States*. If you are accepted, the school should send you USCIS Form I-20 (Certificate of Eligibility for Nonimmigrant [F-1] Student Status - for Academic and Language Students). You must submit this form and a USCIS Form I-539 (Application to Extend/Change Nonimmigrant Status) to the USCIS. You must also prove that you have the financial resources... required for your education and stay in the United States.

*Please be aware that if you have been admitted as a B-1 (Temporary Visitor for Business) or B-2 (Temporary Visitor for Pleasure) visa holder, you may not begin your program studies until your application for these studies is approved.

How do I apply for permission to transfer schools?
You must be a full time student in good academic standing. You then notify your current school of your intent to transfer. You must also ask the school that you plan on attending to give you a new USCIS Form I-20 (Certificate of Eligibility for Nonimmigrant (F-1) Student Status - for Academic and Language Students). You must report to your new DSO within 15 days of transferring, providing evidence from the registrar that you have enrolled full-time for the coming semester. The DSO will then update your status in SEVIS (the governmental program for F-1 students), notifying them that you are registered for classes. If you fail to notify the International Student office of your registration within the 15 days of the program start date (as listed on your I-20), your status will be automatically terminated within SEVIS.

How long can I stay in the United States?
You are allowed to stay in the United States for as long as you are enrolled as a full-time student in an educational program and making normal progress toward completing your course of study. If approved, you also will be allowed to stay in the country up to twelve additional months beyond the completion of your studies to pursue optional practical training (OPT). At the end of your studies or practical training, you will be given sixty days to prepare to leave the country. See the Code of Federal Regulations [8 CFR 214.2 (f)] for more complete time limits or contact the International Student office.

How can I extend my stay as a student in the United States?
You do not need to apply to extend your stay in the United States as long as you are maintaining your student status and making normal progress toward completing your academic course of study. The DSO from your school will input a completion date on your USCIS Form I-20. Under normal circumstances, you should be able to complete your studies by this date. If you need to extend your stay for compelling academic or medical reasons, then you must request an extension within SEVIS from your DSO. This request must be prior to your program end date. If it is not, your status will be terminated, and you will have to apply for reinstatement.

Will I get a work permit?
You may be allowed to work on-campus or off-campus (after the completion of your first year of study) under limited circumstances. Please see the rules on student employment in the Code of Federal Regulations [8 CFR 214.2 (f)]. You may also wish to discuss employment with the DSO at your school. Your accompanying spouse and child may not accept employment at any time for any reason.

Can I travel outside the United States?
Students may leave the United States and be readmitted after absences of five months or less. However, it is imperative that you discuss your travel plans with your school DSO and find out all legal requirements for travel in F-1 status.

How can I get USCIS Forms?
You should be able to pick up immigration-related forms from the International Student Office. Only your DSO can give you a USCIS Form I-20 or a USCIS Form I-538. If you would like other immigration forms, you may call 1-800-870-3676, or submit a request through the USCIS forms by mail system. Forms are also available for free download at www.uscis.gov.

Can anyone help me?
Your school will have a DSO to help you with immigration issues. Please note that you (the F-1 student) are solely responsible for learning and following U.S. immigration laws.
Maintaining Your Immigration Status
While a Student or Exchange Visitor

The United States welcomes international students and exchange visitors who come to study in our nation. While you are enjoying your time in America, it is very important that you understand and comply with the requirements governing your stay to ensure that you do not jeopardize your immigration status.

By maintaining immigration status and keeping school administrators and sponsoring officials well informed, students and exchange visitors residing in America have the opportunity to benefit from the excellent academic and cultural programs of the United States.

Failing to maintain your status could result in serious consequences and may affect your ability to remain in or return to the United States. If you are an international student or exchange visitor studying in the United States, you need to know your responsibilities.

Know about the Student and Exchange Visitor Information System (SEVIS)

SEVIS is the computerized system that collects and maintains information on the current status of non-immigrant students, exchange visitors, and their dependents during their stay in the United States.

Work with your designated school officials (DSO) or exchange visitor responsible officers to ensure that your data in SEVIS is accurate and updated. In addition, these officials can help you better understand the requirements governing your immigration status and help you avoid making choices that might jeopardize your status.

SEVIS was established as part of ICE's objective to restore integrity to the immigration system. By more effectively managing status information on international students and exchange visitors in the United States, SEVIS plays a key role in ICE's homeland security mission while ensuring that all eligible international students and exchange visitors can experience the benefits of America’s exceptional schools, educational programs, and cultural opportunities.

Ongoing SEVIS improvements begin with your comments and suggestions. Please contact the SEVP office with your concerns and feedback.

Understand the Importance of Maintaining Your Status

It is important for students and exchange visitors to understand the concept of immigration status and the consequences of violating that status. Being aware of the requirements and possible consequences will make it more likely that you can avoid problems with maintaining your status.

Every visa is issued for a particular purpose and for a specific class of visitor. Each visa classification has a set of requirements that the visa holder must follow and maintain. Those who follow the requirements maintain their status and ensure their ability to remain in the United States. Those who do not follow the requirements violate their status and are considered “out of status.”

Failure to maintain status can result in arrest, and violators may be required to leave the United States! Violation of status also can affect the prospect of readmission to the United States for an extended period of time. Most people who violate the terms of their status are barred from lawfully returning to the United States for years.

Non-immigrant students or exchange visitors who fall out of status for reasons beyond their control may be eligible to apply for a reinstatement of status. The student or exchange visitor must work with the school or program official to determine if reinstatement is an option.

Recognize and Avoid Status Violations

By violating the requirements that govern your immigration status, you may jeopardize your ability to remain in the United States as a student or exchange visitor. For example, failure to maintain a full course of study or engaging in unauthorized employment could cause you to fall out of status. To avoid this be sure to carefully observe and follow all F-1 laws and requirements.

A Complete List of Requirements and Expectations of F-1 Students for Maintaining Status

INSTRUCTIONS for Submitting Your Application

Required Documents

In order to provide fair and accurate evaluation reports that will be recognized by academic institutions, licensing boards and employers across the U.S., WES follows rigorous documentation and evaluation procedures. WES document requirements are specific to each country, and may change without notice.

The “REQUIRED DOCUMENTS” section on our web site at <www.wes.org> provides detailed instructions regarding the documents to submit. Applicants are strongly advised to follow the instructions found on our web site and submit all required documents so that their evaluations are completed without delay.

WES verifies documents for authenticity. WES reserves the right to request original documents and/or to verify documents with the issuing institution. An evaluation is prepared only after WES is satisfied that it has received and/or verified all necessary documents.

Below are general documentation guidelines. We strongly recommend that you carefully review and follow the most up-to-date and detailed requirements provided on our web site at <www.wes.org/required>.

- Post-secondary academic transcripts/marksheets must be sent directly to WES by issuing institutions in: Argentina, Australia, Bahrain, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Commonwealth Caribbean, Colombia, Cyprus, Denmark, Ecuador, Eritrea, Ethiopia, Finland, Ghana, Greece, Hong Kong, Iceland, Iran, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Jordan, Kenya, Korea, Kuwait, Lebanon, Malaysia, Mexico, Netherlands, New Zealand, Nigeria, Norway, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Singapore, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, Tanzania, Thailand, UAE, United Kingdom, Yemen, Zambia, Zimbabwe.

- For countries where institutions issue documents in English, all certificates and transcripts must be submitted in English.
- European countries where the Diploma Supplement is available: Please request that the institution issue post-secondary academic documents according to the "Diploma Supplement" template developed by the Joint European Commission/Council of Europe/UNESCO Working Party.
- Algeria/Lebanon/Morocco/Tunisia: Documents must be issued in French by the academic institution.

- Latin America: Degree/Certificate (Titulo/Licenciado); transcripts (Certificado de Notas/Calificaciones) indicating all subjects studied with grades and credits or hours of study.
- Russian Federation/Ukraine: For study at a university, academy, or institute, please arrange to have an official transcript (Arkhiivnaya or akademicheskaia spravka/akademichna dovidka), indicating all subjects taken and grades earned, sent directly to our office by the institution attended.

TRANSLATIONS: You must submit clear and legible photocopies of precise word-for-word translations of all foreign language documents. Procedures and Policies

WES evaluates only formal educational credentials and reserves the right not to accept an application for evaluation.

Requests for Additional Information or Documents after Initial Review of Application — If documentation is incomplete or additional information is required to prepare an accurate evaluation, a request for additional documents is issued and the file is placed on hold until the necessary material has been received to the satisfaction of WES.

Re-Evaluations — Requests for re-evaluation based on documents that were not submitted with the original application constitute a new evaluation, and a second payment of the basic fee is required. Likewise, when an applicant requests that a completed document-by-document report be changed to a comprehensive course-by-course report, the full course-by-course fee of $150 is required.

From Course-by-Course to Document-by-Document Report — If WES determines that a course-by-course evaluation report cannot be prepared, a document-by-document report will be issued along with a refund for the difference in fees.

Re-Assessment of Equivalencies — WES evaluations are based on the best information and resources available to professional evaluators in the U.S. WES reserves the right to revise educational equivalencies as additional information becomes available.

Fraudulent Documents — When any document submitted with an application is found to have been altered, forged or tampered with in any manner, WES cancels the application and retains all documents. WES will notify all recipients indicated on the application form as well as other appropriate authorities. Fees are not refundable once an application is submitted. Returned checks are subject to an additional $30 fee.

Comprehensive Course-by-Course Report - $150 (per application, regardless of the number of documents)
This comprehensive evaluation report is designed for, and preferred by, academic institutions and licensing boards. It identifies each credential and gives its U.S. equivalent.
